

ZEN Homoeopathy From Japan Surviving Disasters

Analysis and the use of homoeopathic remedies for radiation

On 11 March 2011, Japan was hit by the Great East Japan Earthquake. She started her relief activities that same day and has been administrating homoeopathic remedies to affected people, land and souls.

At the seminar, she will show not only she has analysed and determined the use of homoeopathic remedies for radiation poisoning, but will also suggest how we can live through this upheaval and how homoeopathy can make a contribution.

Lecturer : Torako Yui

Chairperson of Japanese Homoeopathic Medical Association (JPHMA)

Principal of College of Holistic Homoeopathy (CHhom) in Japan and the Japan Royal Academy of Homoeopathy (RAHUK) in the U.K.

The three-dimensional homoeopathic methodology originated with Torako Yui as a way to deal with modern intractable diseases; the approach uses an idealised treatment to deal with complex modern pathologies and to treat the client swiftly, gently and permanently by dealing with iatrogenic diseases, miasms, the primary complaint (and any secondary complaints) simultaneously while providing support for the client's main organs.

Torako continues to explore the work performed by Dr Hahnemann, often giving lively, clinically-orientated lectures based upon her personal experience and the many successful cases in which she has been involved. It is not unknown for these inspiring lectures to have a deep emotional resonance with the audience.

The three-dimensional method has revealed a quality previously undiscovered in homoeopathic treatments and it is now garnering much attention from Germany, the birthplace of homoeopathy, and around the world.
